Message from Father Tom:

For after he had told the disciples of his coming Death, on the holy mountain he manifested to them his glory, to show, even by the testimony of the law and the prophets, that the Passion leads to the glory of the Resurrection.

-From the preface of the mass for the Transfiguration of the Lord.

A friend of mine tends to get the stomach flu about once per year. It hits him hard and quickly passes. Christopher told me how on one such fateful day he was in the midst of the worst of it. At that point he wasn't sure whether to make a break for the bathroom or to remain very uncomfortably where he was--both options seems impossible. At that very moment it occurred to him, how Christ must have felt this awful, (or probably even worse). Also, he wondered if the end of his own life would be something like this. He had so rarely thought about death and avoided thinking about suffering. He said, "I never realized how blessed I've been to be well 99% of the time."

The Stations of the Cross are very fitting devotions for Lent and for all our lives. What we try so hard not to think about--suffering--is unavoidable as we watch Jesus journey along the way. As we look at the images of a mangled and beat-up Jesus, we know that we have contributed to the suffering of other people. We recognize the destiny of all of us, stripped of our clothes and all our pretensions, at the moment when we go to the white hospital room to face our own death.

This Sunday, our Lord contrasts two incredible realities that we must always think about together: the Transfiguration glory, and the Cross. It is the contrast for us of the joy and life we experience in union with God the Father, and the suffering that we are all called to endure. One of the most helpful thoughts in scripture is where one of the prophets advises: in times of trial, think of past blessings; in times of consolation, think of the sufferings to come. May we always hold together the mystery of the Resurrection, and of the Cross.

Second Sunday of Lent March 17, 2019

Heavenly Father, I thank you for naming me Your beloved child, and for inviting me into a journey of life and love with Your Son.

Jesus, I remember Your many sacrifices. You offered your life to proclaim, teach, and heal, culminating in your gift of self on the cross. Help me to sacrifice this Lenten season. May I draw near to you in prayer, Unite with those who suffer as I fast, and serve in the alms I give. Fill all Christians with Your Holy Spirit, giving us the grace to persevere in our commitment to follow You, to sacrifice with You, and so to rise with You into glory. Amen.

CFSA: Thank you to all who have returned your pledge cards for the Catholic Family Sharing Appeal-2019. If you did not bring yours this week, please fill it out and return it as soon as possible. We need participation from everyone to support the many works of our diocesan church. Our goal is 100% participation through time, talent and treasure. Any amount raised above the goal will stay in each parish.

Stewardship Snippets: “I am the Lord who brought you from Ur of the Chaldeans to give you this land as a possession.” (Genesis 15:7) Just as the Lord gave Abraham, Moses and the Israelites a land to possess, He has also given each of us a home. Whether your home is grand or humble, it is a gift from God. Abraham prepared a great sacrifice to the Lord in gratitude for the home God gave him. How do you show your gratitude to God for the home He has given you? Do you make a sacrifice of any kind? Do you return any of your finances to God, investing equally in your eternal home just as you invest in your earthly home?
